Entry requirements
You will need to have previously been Corgi or Gas Safe registered to apply for the CCN1 Initial training and assessment.

Initial appliance training and assessment will only be offered to candidates who have previously held the qualifications or candidates who have been Gas Safe registered for at least 12 months and are now able to extend their range (Initial Appliances) which can be discussed on application. New entrants to the gas industry will be required to undertake a managed learning programme or an apprenticeship in gas engineering. At the present time we only offer the apprenticeship and not the managed learning programme.

Assessment
We want you to achieve to the very best of your ability at CRC. To make this happen we offer both learning and personal support by specialist staff tailored to meet your specific needs. Achievement is by successful completion of Practical assessments and theory tests.
